

HELP US BUILD TOMORROW'S CONSTRUCTION WORKFORCE

HELP US HELP YOU . . . CONTRIBUTE TODAY!

Sponsored and supported by the Associated General Contractors of Virginia, the mission of the Virginia Construction Industry Educational Foundation (VCIEF) is to provide additional focus and resources for one of construction's most pressing needs . . . finding and training tomorrow's workers.

Yes, we understand that the economy is having a major impact on the industry at this time. But we also recognize that it takes time to recruit and train tomorrow's workforce, and if we don't start now it will imperil our recovery from the current economic malaise.

Workforce development is a major challenge facing everyone in the construction industry.

All firms affiliated with Virginia's construction industry are encouraged to make a tax deductible contribution of $100 to VCIEF (VCIEF is a 501 (c) 3 foundation).

VCIEF has provided funds for:

- Hard Hat Camps for guidance counselors and students in the Tidewater and Fredericksburg areas;
- Youth Learning Academy in Charlottesville which provides a construction orientation and training for middle school students;
- Financial support for AGC student chapters at Old Dominion University and Virginia Tech;
- Statewide carpentry contest for high schools students in conjunction with SkillsUSA;
- Scholarships & grants to students seeking careers in construction.
